OUR PASTORAL INDUSTRY.

According to Bossuet, that country may be considered the most prosperous where the inhabitants are able to have the largest quantity of meat in their food; and, although that great divine was a statitsician and not much of a sociologist, the history of food-supply, with its ever increasing consumption of meat, has confirmed his dictum. Had he, however, been a River Plate cattle-lord, instead of a theologian, he would have somewhat altered his emphatic statement, which applies only to Europe. In the last fifty years the consumption of meat in Europe has increased over forty per cent per inhabitant, a fair barometer of the improvement in living in the working classes. At present, Europe imports about seven hundred thousand tons of meat from the United States, Canada, Australia and the River Plate. The United States, which is to-day the principal market of meat supply, will before the end of this century have no available surplus for export, in view of the extraordinary growth of population in the Union, and the Plate, with its actual stock of 100 million sheep and 20 million lean cows, will then be called upon to play the leading role in the food supply of Europe.

One might infer from such a state of affairs, heavy with the most brilliant prospects for this country, that its government is taking a keen interest in such a momentous question, and is preparing, directly or indirectly, to place the pastoral industry on a footing to meet the requirements of hungry Europe. What vast possibilities there are in store for this country, if her statesmen only prepare the ground for the harvest! Europe, we see, needs at present nearly a million tons of meat per annum; ten years hence the supply from the United States will be reduced to insignificant proportions; meanwhile, what reasonable expectations may be harbored for this country, and what resources will it offer to meet the food requirements of 350 million Europeans? If pastoral affairs continue at the present rate, the Argentine Republic will be able to offer Europe the surplus of 150 million sheep and of perhaps forty million lean cows, and Argentines will be completely distanced by the vastly superior competition of the Australasian colonies. Argentines have yet ten years before them to prepare for this competition for the supply of fat beef and mutton at the rate of at least one million tons per annum, but unless pastoral legislation rule paramount in Congress and the Government house, there are few probabilities of this country being in a position to meet the requirements of such a situation for generations to come.

If we look around us, we see that the cattle industry (we shall not mention sheep), far from emerging from the extraordinary depression of the last five years, has been sinking lower and lower. All the cattle lords have an immense surplus in their wild herds, whilst the requirements of local consumption, of "saladeros," and freezing establishments are ridiculously small alongside the mammoth supply of all sorts and conditions of fat and lean kine, the latter in enormous preponderance. The supply is increasing every year, whilst the quality is not improving, and the requirements are comparatively stationary. Herds can be bought for the value of the hides of the animals, yet beef in B. Ayres, nay in every town of the republic, is dear, often scarce. In winter fat beef is at a premium; and millions of cows roaming about the country increasing at the rate of 20 o/o per annum! The whole system is out of joint, a state of affairs that speaks little in favour of the brains of the "estanciero," of the government, and of the country. Twenty millions of cows against four millions of people, and beef every year at famine prices in the capital of the republic! Yet we talk of supporting Europe.

Let us begin by supplying ourselves with fat beef, and this we shall never do by starting cattle principalities in the Pampa or by voting bounties on the export of frozen beef. Let the men in the Government house be convinced for once that the bounties they have granted are of no benefit, except to several individuals who might as well throw overboard the beef they extport, as the country at large derives no lasting advantage from such a policy. In spite of bounties, the cattle industry is steeped in a greater crisis than ever, and the query arises, how long is this state of affairs doomed to last? As long as there are "estancieros" in this country. The only hope is in immigration, which entails the division of large areas of lands into farms and colonies, and the general "modus operandi" of nature, which implies the weeding out of the "estanciero" and his retrograde system of wild herds, and the survival of the small capitalists, who, on the remains of the "latifundia" start small farms under a combination of agricultural and pastoral pursuits. That work must be left to time, and it is a consolation to think that it is inevitable.

The Argentine Republic may owe something to the enterprise of the Irish sheepfarmers, but it owes nothing to the 'estanciero.' The latter has done absolutely nothing, and if the present and past are any reliable basis of the future, he will never do anything. No doubt, when talking of progress, enterprise, brains and energy great allowances must be made for the 'estanciero" but the solemn fact stands that he and his system are fixed to the pampa soil like a Mandubay post, whilst the world around is marching and enquiring when will the River Plate be able to ship to Europe 10,000 tons of fresh meat per week! Let the estanciero answer the question from the top of his "recado," "lasso" in hand, and two "peones," preparing to get a beefsteak for his morning meal.

With such men and such a system, Argentine herds may roam from the foot of the Andes to the Atlantic, and increase at a fabulous rate, but no progress can be expected, no redemption out of the cattle crisis that threatens to become severer every year with the increasing numbers of wild, degenerated, and lean animals. It is fortunate, indeed, that the sheep industry did not fall into such hands, as the breed in the province to-day might still be "pampa" to the backbone. The export of fresh mutton is increasing yearly, and though the results of the business be not brilliant, its prospects are great. In time we shall ship from Argentine ports at least a million wethers per month, and our roads a revival of the saladero industry, if that be not quite wiped out by that time, to sell the thin "novillos" that are breaking through the wire fences of his 20 to 100-league estancia in the old national territory region; it may happen, however, that "estancieros" and "rodeos," at least in the province of Buenos Ayres, will be things of the past before another generation.

LATEST FROM LA PLATA.

La Plata has grown so much within the last year, that it is quite evident the place no longer rests on artificial government aid, and although in our hurried visit we saw many shut up chateaus and palaces, we noticed a healthy movement and great activity in trade and business in the streets, and we may say in everything that called for individual enterprise. Many of the grand government buildings still hang fire, but private houses, almacens, banks, shops, tramways, all are increasing and doing well; and the fortunes made out there even in the last year are evidenced by the splendid houses going up on all sides for account of the La Plata millionaires of 1888. The Italian club has fine saloons up stairs in the new block of buildings built by Mr. Richele. The great Government House in the plaza is still unfinished, and we hear will probably be rented for a hotel. D'Amico's grand house is shut up and no one knows what will be done with it, as the owner has cleared out to Chile and under rather peculiar domestic circumstances. The Municipal Town Hall, which people thought never would be finished, as the works were at a stand so long, is now being pushed ahead, as the board is in funds, having sold some municipal lands at a high figure. The magnificent Duomo or Cathedral that was to outdo Milan is but a few feet over the ground. It seems that since the Vatican has refused to make La Plata a bishopric, the authorities have stopped the works; even however supposing that the works were not interrupted it would take at least 500 years to complete such a gigantic work. Facing the foundation walls of the embryo Duomo is a square of land valued at 240,000 nats., belonging to Dr. Dardo Rocha, who got a present of it, in the Romulus and Remus days of La Plata. In this same plaza the nuns have a convent, and alongside is the celebrated family house of Dr. Rocha, built and finished in 30 days, "sic transit gloria mundi." The National College has been just inaugurated, as also a new meat and vegetable market, and in this part of the city there are whole terraces of new two-storey houses which find ready tenants at from 100 to 200 m|n per month. Mr. J.T. Puleston has purchased in this neighbourhood a very fine commodious residence, and the house is replete with every modern improvement. Dr. Monez Cazon, Dr. Barraquero and Mr. Chas. Davis have also built splendid houses and hotels, large properties. Mr. Maffei has just purchased half a block of houses in front of R. R. Station for 135,000 nats. The Banco de Italia y Rio de la Plata has also purchased a splendid site in front of the Mortgage Bank for 54 nats. per vara, and could sell same now for 84 nats. per vara. Mr. Gregory Torres has bought whole blocks for the purpose of making recobas or arcades, and we noticed that some very rich men who a year ago mistrusted La Plata, are now the largest buyers of property in the best streets. What greatly attracts the attention of visitors is the large number of properties in the best quarters of the city marked in large letters as belonging to the Banco Constructor—we had no idea the company owned such good rent-paying properties, as we thought most of its investments were in lands which gave nothing. The Banco Mercantil is of course the wonder of the place; not only the bank, but all connected with it have made large fortunes last year. They say on the Bolsa that the bank made all its money by lending on Sociedad Territorial shares at enormous rates from month to month, but we know nothing of the business. Mr. Uriburu, the President of the Bank, is building on the Railway a chateau that will eclipse the grand Basualdo Palace in Flores, and Mr. Castel, his son-in-law, is building an equally magnificent residence in front; these princely residences will always remind the La Plata visitor of the gains of banking in La Plata in 1888. This extraordinarily successful bank has just declared a dividend of 6 per cent for the last quarter of 1888. What would London bankers say at such dividends? The newest thing in La Plata is the proposed removal of the R. R. Station, which of course gives a new turn to everything in the locality where the new station will be made in Calle No. 1. The present station will be made into a school of arts and trades, and all the land at present occupied by the rails, depot, etc., will be sold at auction. The train will therefore escape the curve and remain out at the entrance of the Parque. All La Plata favors the move and we suppose it will be soon carried out. It is worthy of remark that whilst there are morg grand mansions to rent or to sell in La Plata than in any other city we have seen, save London and Dublin, there is not a small decent private dwelling-house to be got for love or money, and fast as the new millionaires build them they are rented and families move in, before the paint on the walls is dry. The Nacion has fine offices facing the railway station, and we hear that what with subscribers and advertisements the office is self-supporting and pays. Mr. Benjamin Castillo, who returned from Europe last year, has bought up the Capital, the local opposition paper. The other paper, The Buenos Aires, publishes three editions daily, and is doing a roaring editorial business. Speculation still exists, and they are building a grand Bolsa bigger than the Colon theatre of Buenos Aires. There are 400 members, but last year all the small fry suffered fearfully owing to the fall in Sociedad Territorial and Fomento Territorial shares. This fall was briefly effected by lending money to holders for a month at high interest, not giving the borrower the number of his shares, which the lender at once threw on the falling market, and as he knew the lender could not pay up, renewing or passing from month to month shares that stood at 140, tumbled to 30, and are now at 16—such is the history of this business. They have now started a new concern called the Industrial, and are buying property, paying for same in the shares. Last week a good piece of property facing the law courts and Dr. Leopoldo del Ocampo's office, was sold at auction, and fetched 32 nats. per square yard. It formerly belonged to the Sociedad Territorial. The new Provincial Loan Law has just been [illegible] for 18 millions [illegible] shall, in stile all La Plata talks about the new loan and the sale of the railways. The latter is considered as good as done; everyone approves of the step as the Western Railway is now so wretchedly managed that its income, 2 millions, does not cover the service on its debts which require 2,300,000 gold per annum, and this is a pretty How do you do?

Gov. Paz lives in the Iraolo estancia house in the park, and the forest of eucalyptus trees that adorned the place will soon be a thing of the past, as the trees are being cut down. On Sunday and Thursday evenings the band plays in the park, and all the wealthy families drive out there in their carriages. The diagonal streets are a great success and are being paved with beautiful veredas and houses. All the national offices are now centred in one building, post-office, federal courts, telegraph and national mortgage bank, for which the National Government pays 1,000 nats. per month rent. The National Bank we hear, will shortly open a branch, as also one of the English banks of Buenos Aires. The Provincial Mortgage Bank is doing a roaring business, what with the new issues on Centros Agricolas and on every other description of property, the board can hardly keep pace with the march of business. Preparations are now being made for the issue of the next series P., as the series N. is now exhausted. We heard that on the last quarter day of the previous quarter eight hundred thousand nats. were received at the cashier's office. Great complaints are made about the scarcity of mechanics and workmen; it seems that they have gone to Buenos Aires, as the people of La Plata who build houses are very bad pay, and the poor mechanics cannot get their money. The people in La Plata all breakfast at from 11.30 to 12., and dine at 8 p. m. Meat and vegetables are much cheaper than in Buenos Aires, and the people all look healthy and well fed. The train service on the Ensenada R. R. is excellent, and a double track is being laid, with a new fashioned iron sleeper. Mr. Shaw, the manager, is about to retire from the management of the line, much to the regret of all, and there is much inquiry as to the name of his successor.

MEMS OF VESUVIUS.

XX.

Don Domingo Cichero, of the Boca, is certainly the hero of Vesuvius, for, but for his unconquered curiosity to look into the crater, we certainly should not have made the ascent, which is costly, awkward and most highly inconvenient. It was almost sundown when we drove from Pompeii, and made for the little parish town of Torre Annunciata at the foot of the mountain. Dn. Domingo had arranged for horses and guides at the Diomede hotel, Pompeii so that when we drove to the little village we found the guides and horses ready; but such a pack of old worn-out "mancarrones" we never before saw, and as for the guides, numbering with the boys to carry torches, over a dozen, they even looked shabbier than the horses. All that I could do to urge Mr. Cichero against such an expedition, and with such a rabble, and at such an hour of the night, was useless; he was resolved to go up with his two daughters, and my daughter wished also to go, so I was compelled to join them, my wife and Mrs. Cichero very properly remaining at the hotel until we returned. We trotted along a narrow lane through vines and olives for a couple of miles. In vain we tried to make our horses gallop, but they could not get beyond a trot, and gradually as we emerged from the vines and ascended the mountain we found that the rascally boys held on to our horses' tails, and kept the animals from even going at a fast walk. For two long hours we kept our way up the mountain, and it was a dark black night when we arrived at the foot of the cone, where we had to leave our horses and ascend on foot. The change at first seemed agreeable enough, and we laughed and chatted, holding on to ropes from the shoulders of the guides who went before us. The lava is so loose that every step forward you make you slip back, and when this process held for a time, we paused to give ourselves and the guides a pull at the wine bottles. On we went again, but as our progress was so slow, guides were put behind us thus: Dn. Domingo held on to the rope of the guide before that dragged him on, whilst another guide put his hands to Dn. Domingo's back and pushed him up, and I went through the same process. My daughter and Miss Paula Cichero, as they were going very slowly and weakly, were hoisted on the shoulders of two guides each, and carried aloft, whilst Miss Anita Cichero, the strongest of the whole party, seemed to go up the confounded cone with the agility of a young goat. There came another pause, guides, guests and boys all done up; my mouth, from the dust of the lava and the panting, was so dry that I could hardly speak. Again we drank the Vesuvius wine, and again we went on, the fire from the volcano getting worse and worse, belching out blazes and hot coals—the ground we climbed on like hot ashes from an American stove, and a disagreeable sulphurous smell very much like the disinfectants used on board a ship. I asked one of the guides employed either in pulling or pushing me up if we were near the top, when they told me to my horror not quite half way. With all the little strength left me I roared out in Spanish to Dn. Domingo to halt. Tired, done up, sweating, perspiring at every pore, I flung myself on the hot lava, and with all the calmness at my command told Dn. Domingo that he might go on if he liked, but that not one inch higher would I go; and now ensued a row in Italian with our guides. They all swore that I should go on, as a contract was a contract, and their contract was to take me to the top. I tried in Spanish to convey to the banditti that I cared nothing for the top, and as for the crater I should not go one inch higher for ten thousand craters. As soon as they found I was willing to pay their full charge, they were all delighted, and even advised Dn. Domingo and the young ladies to follow my example; but as for Don Domingo, there was no altering his determination. 'What would my friends in the Boca say if I stopped here?' "Oh! bother the Boca and all your friends there,' cried I, 'leave one of the boys with the torches, so that when I am rested I can find my way back to where the horses are, and you may go along to the top,' and so it was arranged. I lay on the hot sulphurous lava, half smothered in the open air, and when I began to come to I descended with the torch and the boy. I felt now and then a terrible rumbling noise under me, which I can only compare to the noise of moving large sheets of iron half waiting for my friends to return. They all got to the top, but the volcano that night was so active that the guides would not allow Mr. Cichero to pass a certain line drawn around the crater. It seems that a most horrible accident occurred there not long ago. An American gentleman insisted upon looking in, the guide pulled him back, and he was so annoyed that he grappled with the guide and they both fell in. It was past midnight when we got back to our hotel. I caught a fearful cold waiting so long on the mountain for my friends, and was laid up for a week; and the bill for guides, etc., and sixteen bottles of wine drank came to 400 francs, and thus closed my expedition to Vesuvius.

BANK OF ENGLAND RATE.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

London, Dec. 7th.

This evening's papers inform us that the Bank of England's rate is now 5½, and may at any moment be raised to 6 per cent. It is almost 7 years since money was so dear, the last quotation of 6 per cent. having been in Feb. 1882. That year was remarkably high, the average for the 12 months exceeding 4 per cent, and coming close upon the year of the general boom, 1873, when the bank-rate rose to 9 per cent.

For a wonder, the bi-metallists have not attempted to turn to advantage the present condition of affairs. Scarcity of bullion is giving an unhealthy aspect to the Bank returns, and it is feared that any further drain, either in the direction of the River Plate or of Russia, may produce a panic. The stock of bullion in the Bank has declined as follows:—

	Millions £. Average.	Lowest.
1873-76.....	24·8	20·9
1887-80.....	27·5	22·5
1881-84.....	23·5	20·4
1885-87	22·3	19·9
1888.....	—	19.0

We see that the bullion reserve is now 30 per cent less than the average for the years 1877 to 1880. And yet new Argentine and Russian issues are announced almost daily. If they go on thus the alarm will become general.

Some people are disposed to lay much blame on Mr. Goschen for having reduced the interest on British Consols, and thus in a manner offered a premium for investments in foreign stocks. But it is quite possible that if Mr. Goschen had never touched the National Debt the subscriptions to Russian and Argentine loans would have been no less. Is there not the same amount of money in Consols now as before? The truth is that capital is accumulating rapidly in Great Britain; at least £12,000,000 monthly, and this must find outlet somewhere. The competition of labour in England is much less than the competition of capital. People are only too glad to find Argentines, Chilians or other respectable S. Americans to borrow from them. They would perhaps have gone on lending to Australia, but that some very clever writers in the Economist and other papers cautioned them. And yet we may live to see the debt of Australia 500 millions sterling, and perfectly safe.

At yesterday's sitting the President, Lord Justice Hannen, administered a severe and well-merited rebuke to the Attorney-General for having so far wasted the time of the Court, in proving a long series of outrages, from the murder of Lord Mountmorris eight years ago, which had apparently no connexion with Mr. Parnell. Sir Charles Russell took advantage of Judge Hannen's remark to say that he and his learned colleagues, Lockwood and Reid, scarcely felt themselves justified in continuing, at very great expense to their clients, to sit day after day in court listening to policemen and others detailing outrages which nobody questioned had taken place. Thereupon Judge Smith interposed—"Why then, Sir Charles, do you still further waste time by cross-examining such witnesses?" This is one-sided reasoning with a vengeance. However, Sir Charles took the hint, and neither he nor his colleagues put a single question to three following witnesses, one of whom was the famous Captain Boycott himself.

The Attorney-General's object is manifestly far from seeking to prove his case, but rather to throw the public off the scent of the forged letters, which were originally the whole and sole purpose of the Special Commission, and to create an atmosphere of prejudice against the Irish members by raking up the many horrible crimes committed in Ireland in the last nine years. O'Connell used to say that if he were accused of the murder of "the Italian boy" at Rathfarnham, and for which a policeman named Delahunty was afterwards hanged, a jury would readily be found to convict him. Things have not changed much in forty-five years. Nevertheless everybody knows at present that the "Parnell letters" published in the Times were forgeries: no man in England has the least doubt on the subject. Hence the effort of the Attorney-General to throw them utterly into oblivion, with the hope that either Judge Hannen or Judge Smith may succumb, or a general war break out in Europe, or something unexpected happen, before the possibility of bringing the Commission to a close. Judge Hannen said yesterday that he felt life was too short, and he viewed the future of Sir Richard Webster's police evidence with an apprehension that the lives of the three judges would be wasted during such profitless proceedings.

Two months have already elapsed, and we have had nothing but a dismal record of outrages, some of the witnesses produced being widows of murdered men, the sight of whom is particularly harrowing. But it is to be observed that many of these witnesses emphatically declared that they believed the Land League had nothing to do with the crimes in question. As a matter of fact, the two counties, Clare and Kerry, where most outrages took place, were those in which the Land League was unable to compete with Moonlighters. People driven half-mad by landlord cruelties were slow to accept the advice of the Land League, and sought for immediate revenge through the midnight outlaws.

It is a commentary on the present Commission and on the state of Ireland that Lord Clanricarde issued last week a fresh batch of eviction notices, that Col. Vandeleur has notified that in January he will begin another crowbar brigade, and that the present inclement season of Christmas is specially chosen by these abominable ty-

NINE DAYS LATER.

STANLEY AND EMIN.

THE BATTLE AT SUAKIM.

THE RECESS.

BARINGS AND URUGUAY.

THE GRAND OLD MAN IN ITALY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

London, 22nd, and Genoa, 25th ult.

The news of the day again refers to Stanley and Emin. Two despatches have been received, one from Zanzibar in the East and one from St. Thomé in West Africa. They differ. The Zanzibar telegram says Stanley had arrived at Aruwhimi from Emin. The St. Thomé message says he had arrived there with Emin. The question is to prove by these last despatches the truth or probability of Osman Digna's account. From what can be gathered, the hypothesis which finds some favor is this: Stanley arrived at Wadilai in May last, and finding Emin well provided with rations but short of ammunition, Stanley left him powder and arms and returned to Aruwhimi to look up his own rear-guard under Barttelot, who, as we know, had in the meantime been murdered and his men dispersed. If [illegible] as the St. Thomé despatch says, Stanley arrived with Emin, we may hope to hear of their arrival safe and well at Stanley Falls. On the hypothesis that according to the Zanzibar account, Stanley arrived at Aruwhimi alone, and in September, he could not possibly have got back to Wadilai before November. In the meanwhile Emin Pasha had, according to Osman's tale, surrendered in October. Stanley's approach would have been known, and he may be alluded to as the white traveller against whom the Mahdi's General had been sent in pursuit.

Against this hypothesis is a very general opinion amongst the experts that Osman Digna's despatch was a mere ruse and wholly unworthy of credit, and that the probability is that Emin is with Stanley and that the delay in hearing from them direct is owing to the loss of Stanley's rear-guard and the consequent interruption to his communications. You will see in the papers the messages from Zanzibar and St. Thomé and also Sir Francis de Winton's latter on the subject. The end of it is still great uncertainty but more hope than there was that one or both of the gallant explorers are safe.

You will have received the news of the "battle" at Suakim. It was an affair of half an hour. The trenches of the wretched Arabs were carried brilliantly by the black Soudanese troops supported by the Egyptian and British. The latter seemingly had very little to do, except the 20th Hussars, who came across the Dervish cavalry and had a hand to hand fight with them, losing a few men. The black regiment also lost five or six men but the whole loss was trifling. The Arab loss was 400 killed and wounded. Amongst the wounded is Osman Digna's nephew who is now in hospital in Suakim. Kitchener and Grenfell of course want to attack at once Handoub where Osman is with a certain force. Our Generals will then want to take Tokar and Tamai and occupy them. The danger is they will want eventually to go to Berber and Khartoum. Lord Salisbury distinctly says no—he will not go into the Soudan; but to occupy Suakim is necessary to the "continuity of our foreign policy." A very good phrase which has a certain rationality in it, and possibly for the sake of continuity we shall go now to Tokar to keep the Suakim country free and at ease.

Parliament will probably close to-day or Monday. We shall then be in the full dullness of Xmas tide. Yesterday was the shortest day. It was as mild as a day in August. The sun is now shining at intervals and altogether the look of externals is not that of Xmas, but trade is better and people seem inclined to make the most of the festivities during the coming week.

The Financial News says that the Uruguay Government and the Messrs. Baring are at loggerheads. The great London firm finds in spite of its apologist, Mr. Will Morice, that its reputation has suffered by its connection with the Oriental Government. The Statist to-day has little about River Plate affairs and contains only a low growl at the apologists for Barings and the Uruguay Government and is evidently puzzled with the financial statements of that Government who seem always to have odd millions [illegible] of debt turning up not previously accounted for. In the Economist you will find a long letter, the phraseology of which appears to me to smell of a solicitor's office with the added flavour of a bank parlour, and to indicate careful consultation in the putting together, to say that "One who has seen" and has just been there—that is in Buenos Aires—is of opinion that the Economist's pessimistic views as to possible financial difficulties in the Argentine are mistaken. The editor appends a short note to the communication and denies your apologist's facts and inferences. Can "One who has seen" be the Manager of the L. and R.P.? Many come to me with the same protest against doubts as to the stability of affairs in the Argentine.

I enclose a letter from "One who has suffered" on Uruguay finances. Could you not send a torpedo boat and take that little place its externals and internals and all that is its?

The boy Husband tried for the Havant murder has been acquitted.

Naples, 20th Dec.—The whole city and Press are talking of the arrival of Mr and Mrs Gladstone. The venerable statesman arrived at the station at 10 a.m., and was received by a crowd of University students wearing the traditional cap and carrying the historic banner. As soon as Mr. Gladstone was perceived the students cheered vociferously, shouting "Viva il nemico dei Borboni? Viva el Grande Liberale! Viva l'Italia! Viva l'Inghilterra! Viva l'Irlanda!" Mr. Gladstone was much moved and when sufficiently recovered from his emotion shouted back, "Viva Napoli! Viva la Gioventu Italiana!" The enthusiasm was unbounded. Crowds followed crowds, forming an imposing manifestation, who accompanied the distinguished guest to his villa. There a guard of honor sent by the Governor escorted him, and will remain attached for 40 days. Nothing could equal the attention shown by all classes to the distinguished visitor.

Yesterday 50 democratic associations met and formally protested against any

INSPECTOR'S REPORTS ON THE CENTRAL NORTHERN AND PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Some late reports were received yesterday at the office of the National Railway Board. Amongst others one from Mr. Paul Wauer, who reports a few delays on the Central Northern. The traffic is so great that these irregularities are in a great way excusable. So long as the delays do not extend over hours, days, and months, the Inspector has not much ground for complaint. The passenger-traffic is so great that there are not sufficient carriages nor seats for the human loads which fill the trains. We are glad to note that Mr. Wauer makes every allowance for this unprecedented pressure, the exact cause of which he cannot trace. The permanent way is kept in good repair, and the rolling-stock is in fair condition.

Inspector Koranda reporting on the Pacific Line says that the road bed of the first section between Palermo and Mercedes is no longer dangerous. Very little remains to be done to make the way perfect. He alludes to serious delays caused by the trains stopping half an hour between Palermo and Mercedes. The delays are unpleasantly frequent and long. New waggons have arrived and the rolling-stock is kept in satisfactory repair.

At the Baldwin Locomotive Works, in Philadelphia, there are in course of construction four locomotives which are designed to run by soda, which takes the place of fire under the boiler. According to the Record of that city, soda has much the same power as coal, without any of the offensive gases which that fuel emits. The engines, now nearly finished, are to be shipped to Minneapolis, Minnesota, and run on the streets of that city, where steam-engines are forbidden. The engine has much the same appearance as a passenger car. It is about sixteen feet long, entirely boxed in, with no visible smokestack or pipes, as there is no exhaust or refuse. The boiler is of copper, eighty four and one half inches in diameter and fifteen feet long, having tubes running through it, as in steam-boilers. Inside the boiler will be placed five tons of soda, which, upon being damped by a jet of steam produces an intense heat. When the soda is thoroughly saturated, which will occur in about six hours, the action ceases, and then it is necessary to restore it to its original state by forcing through the boiler a stream of superheated steam from a stationary boiler which drives the moisture entirely from the soda, when it is again ready for use The exhaust steam from the cylinders is used to saturate the soda, and by this means all refuse is used. These engines are the first of their kind that have been built in America, and have been constructed under the supervision of George Kuchler, a German engineer. The engines will have the same power as those on the New York elevated roads. Soda-engines are used in Berlin and other European cities very successfully, and they also traverse the St. Gothard Tunnel, under the Alps, where the steam-engines cannot be used, because the length of the tunnel renders it impossible to devise a system of ventilation which will carry off all the foul gases generated by a locomotive.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Nothing new yesterday from any quarter of the habitable globe, including Mendoza, where political affairs seem to be fizzling back to quietude. Rosario has indignantly denied that it contemplates following the fashion in the political rumpus line.

Old Corrientes appears to be learning the weaknesses of civilization at racing speed. The papers received yesterday from that quarter report a tremendous scandal in the theatre there, caused by a lean Italian ballet girl, in the middle of the performance, giving a bit of her mind to a fat Alderman in the Governor's box. Such was the ruction that the Governor at last ordered the City Father to leave the box, and this put an end to the scandal.

The ball-playing community were all agog yesterday about the two grand matches announced to come off in Plaza Euskara and the Fronton Nacional: One between Portal and Elicegui, the other between Beloqui and the Manco de Villabona on one side, and Chiquito de Eibar and Pasiego on the other. Heavy wagers are being booked on these two great ball-playing events.

At long last there is a chance of the Flores Road being paved before the end of the century and the demise of our esteemed Corporators. The Municipality has decided not to allow any bullock-cart in the Flores Road, until the ill-starred street be completely paved. This puts a stop for ever to bullock-cart traffic. The Road is not so bad now, there being only 5 carts broken yesterday and about 10 beautifully stuck in the mud.

We received yesterday a beautiful Blotting Pad Almanack from the Royal Insurance Company, of which Mr. J. R. Stafford is local agent. The cover is a triumph of pictorial art, and the book is fit for a drawing-room table.

The steamer Camilo utterly failed in her trial trip to Montevideo from this port on Sunday. She took eleven hours to do the run; so her owners have abandoned all idea of putting her on the route between the two cities.

Dr. Susini has made a discovery that will place him on a level with the great Pasteur and make up in a jump the greatest benefactor that estanciero-humanity has ever had.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Dr. Burmeister, the venerable Director of the National Museum, was 82 years old yesterday. We feel great pleasure in saluting the distinguished savan, and hope to see him do a full century, and more. Few scientific men in any part of the world remain so vigorously in harness

The mails by the Italian steamer Vittoria show that England's "grand old man" is booming it in the sunny South is glorious style. It is most significant to see that amongst the various cheers given by the wildly excited Neapolitans for the great English statesman, the cry of "Eviva Irlanda!" was prominent. Mr. Gladstone replied in Italian, of which he is as much a master as of Greek; tongues he prefers that of Dante. The Italian Government sent a guard of honor to attend him during his stay.

Bank managers are generally the most pacific of men, as befits their high trust, and, as a rule, look on a duel with much about the same probability of falling in their way as a trip to the moon. Nevertheless, the telegrams from Concordia yesterday reported a duel there between the manager of the National Bank and an escribano, in which the former was slightly wounded. All's well that ends well; but we hope to hear no more of bank managers fighting duels. It is really too great an anomaly.

The strike amongst the navvies on the Riachuelo Port Works ended pleasantly yesterday. They demanded 25 per cent increase of wages; the Minister of the Interior offered 10 per cent; they said "Bene! Excellenza!" and "asunto concluido." The bitterness of European strikes his evidently still unknown here.

We had a letter yesterday from "An English Traveller" asking us if the proprietor of the hotel at which he is staying cannot be made legally accountable for his trunk having been carried off to Europe (in mistake (!)) by another occupant of the same bedroom? We should say he can; but most strongly advise our correspondent not to go to law, but to settle the matter amicably; as the suit might probably be about coming to an end when his children's children would be drawing near their graves.

A dozen Ligurian labourers sleeping in a small room of a few metres square is still the order of the night in the Boca "conventillos." This is the same old story of ten years ago. The Lord Mayor has ordered the Inspectors to pay nocturnal visits to these dens and put a stop to this danger to public health.

Importantisimo remate, dá 1600 cuadras cuadradas de riquisimo campo, á un paso de la capital federal, en el partido General Rodriguez, á 3 leguas de la estacion del F. C. del O., por division de condominio entre los Sres. Garraham hermanos, á propósito para un centro agricola, campo de primer órden, con alambrados, poblaciones, corrales, etc., etc., base de venta 400 ps. m/n. cuadra cuadrada. En nuestra casa Alsina núm. 482.

El miércoles 30 de enero á las 2 en punto de la tarde, remataremos por division de condominio entre los Srs. Garraham hermanos, 1600 cuadras cuadradas, situadas en el partido General Rodriguez, á solamente 3 leguas de la estacion del ferro carril del Oeste, con 3 potreros alambrados, diez puestos de material, arboles, corrales, etc., etc.

Sus linderos son el arroyo de la Choza, Furiqueta y Eugenio Manny, Luis Irigoyen, Pellegrini y Lagos y los herederos de Pedro Ham.

El campo es de los mejores que existen en sus alrededores de la capital, tanto para agricultura como para ganaderia, asi es que creemos innecesario recomendarlo.

La venta se efectuará irremisiblemente pues hay que dividir el condominio. Titulos de primer órden.

Planos detallados pueden obtenerse en nuestra casa, Alsina núm. 482.

In spite of there being a half monthly liquidation to-day, gold was little better than firm. It stocks hard at 150, and seems indisposed to move higher, in spite of the spreading rumours of a general flare-up at the liquidation. It is therefore sufficiently apparent that there is little to be made off the advance. Speculation is limited in consequence, and the market holds back to wait on events. As for stocks, they are still more dead than alive. Only in Nat. Bank Shares is there the slightest sign of animation, and they, though holding their own, show as yet no improvement. There is no doubt that if the dearth of paper continues, prices must soon begin to drop under the sales of those compelled to realize. This will, of course, tell more immediately on other shares than the sovereign stock. The new issues will, in all probability, be the first to give way, and it is said that the Nat. Bank Shares are now cheap, since the quarterly dividends next year will be 5 o|o instead of 4 o|o. The Government broker took up heavy lots of the shares to-day, and they closed firm, though with numerous sellers at ½ a point over the rate. In other values the movement is infinitesimal.
Operations in gold at the first ring only embraced about a million and a half, pretty evenly divided between cash, end of month, and end of February, the tendency of rates being firm but by no means booming. For cash the quotation opened at 149.90, jumped to 150.40, and then dropped again to 150.10, at which it closed with buyers and sellers. For Saturday the speculation was started at 150, running up to 150.30, falling to 10, and closing at 150,20. For end of month the fight was tougher, ranging for some time between 150 and 149.80, then advancing to 150.50, fluctuating up and down between that rate and 150.20, and finally closing at 150.40. For February 300,000 were disposed of, opening at 150.50 and closing at 151.10. For March something was done at 151.40, and for April at 151.80. In Cedulas, E National and M and N Provincial Series were in fair demand at firm rates. Nat. Bank Shares opened for end of month at 268.50, fell to 268, advanced to 269, and closed at 268.50 buyers, and 271.50 for end February. Some fully paid-up Madero Port Company's Shares were disposed of at 136 for end February and 132 cash. Constructors were noted to end of month, opening at 136, rising to 136.50, and closing at 136, and Pobladora Scrip at 100 to 98 for same date.

In a late number of Sheep and Wool, reviewing the state of the meat trade, it says:—"The River Plate mutton is so badly dressed, so ill-fed, and so objectionable-looking generally, that it will never be taken by the multitude. The New Zealand mutton, more particularly such as is known as theirs, is of good quality, pretty nearly equal to our best English." These appreciations may be strictly true, but they are certainly not in exact keeping with other reports on the same point. The journal is evidently unfavourably impressed with the River Plate and its productions, as we notice in a table of sheep statistics of the various countries it ignores the Plate "in toto," even whilst asking as a favour of its readers information with regard to the numbers of sheep in Asia and Africa, to complete their table.
Advices from the Mount announce that the statutes of the Banco Franco-Uruguayo have been definitely approved. The principal promoters of the concern are the Credit Foncier and Credit Lyonnais, although several other leading French bankers are interested. The business of the bank will be principally in mortgages of property, the title-deeds being remitted to France to guarantee the 5 o|o bonds which will be launched; it will also deal in exchange and other commercial business. To foment rural development, colonies will be formed, one thousand French families being already engaged. Mr. Fred Vidiella will be manager, and the issue is fixed at 20 million dollars.
The Antwerp wool auction comes off to-day and telegrams of a favorable nature are expected by the houses in wool trade; 10,000 bales offered.
A great movement in wool this morning in both Plazas is reported. The stores are nearly all cleared out and at advanced prices. This we attribute to the rise in the gold market.
Letters received from Germany to-day announce an immense emigration to the Plate, and a great difficulty about steamers to get off the people.
We received advices from the camps abundant. Our correspondent says "the camps are getting 'poblared' here at a tremendous speed; we have now got neighbours all around us, and far to the West one hears nearly daily of new puestos". This shows the 'bona fide' growth of the camp without any centro agricola aid.
Exchange ruled rather better this afternoon, and bills were offering all round at firm rates; we suppose this is due to the fresh stir this morning in wool. Gold may after all feel the movement in produce and in exchange, and instead of there being a squeeze at the end of the month, as some anticipate, gold may be over, and the probabilities are that the market will lean that way.
Large posters of removal were put up to-day on Moore's corner. Mr. Scheiner moves out, and we heard on 'Change that he gets 60,000 Nats. to cancel his lease.
The Buenos Ayres Building and Safe Deposit Company is finding large subscribers amongst the strongest men in the market. The site purchased by this new Co. is certainly the best in town, and the price paid for the land, 700 m|n per square vara, is not considered dear.
Telegrams from London say that the new Banking Company for B. Aires was most successfully brought out.
The New Zealand and River Plate Land Mortgage Co. has already begun business in this market. It is managed by Mr. Alfred Cox, who has a thorough knowledge of this market, owing to his previous connection with a similar Company which he started. Mr. Cox is assisted in the administration of the Company here by Mr. Robert M. Ramsay, who has such a wide connection in Buenos Aires. We augur for the new Company, under such able management, the very best results. The Company has two millions sterling fully subscribed, which is about the largest capital of any foreign company in the market.
The report and balance-sheet of that very flourishing concern the Constructora de Flores was handed round to-day. It is most interesting in every respect, shewing a very prosperous record. The dividend distributed amounts to 27½ o|o, and it is proposed to emit shares to raise the capital to 8 millions. The profits for the year amounted to 618,190 dollars, and was made on but a very few operations.
Mr. E. A. Adde was welcomed to-day on his arrival from London. He comes accredited as representative by the Swedish Export Company, and intends opening a permanent exhibition of Swedish goods as the best means of propagating a knowledge of what his country is capable of producing. The Swedes are evidently determined to make a bold attempt to push their trade.
Business at the second ring was dull all round, embracing about 1½ million dollars gold sold at firm rates, closing for to-morrow at 150.40, for end of month at 150.50, and for end of February at 151.10. Stocks were rather uneasy, the sovereign stock giving way another half point to 268. Constructors closed at 134 for to-morrow and 136.50 for end of month. Cedulas were firm, the N series being in brisk demand and largely dealt in. It is not probable that the banks will discount with any liberality this month, and this is exercising a depressing effect on stocks.
The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the 2nd ring:—

The s.s. Matteo Bruzzo left Genoa on the 14th for River Plate.
The s.s. Umberto I. left to-day from same port for the Plate with 1000 passengers and 500 tons cargo.
The s.s. Graf Bismarck arrived yesterday in Montevideo from Bremen, and La Coruna with 800 tons cargo and 953 passengers.
The s.s. Phœnician, Allan Line, arrived in Montevideo this morning.
The s.s. Warwick, Houston Line, arrived in Montevideo to-day, and Eastbourne, of Houlder Line, arrived yesterday.
It seems that there is a fair probability of having a direct line of steamers between Lisbon and the Plate, as the Camara de Comercio of the Bolsa lend the idea their full approval. At present only four steamers a month touch at Lisbon and even these do not receive cargo in that port, due to the Draconian Customs' tariffs of the country.
The balance-sheet and shareholders' list of the Sociedad General Paraguayo-Argentino are now published. The subscribed capital is nearly 4½ million dollars and the list contains some of the best names in this market, besides some leading foreign banks. The first board of directors is composed as follows:—J. P. Guerrico, president; P. Christophersen, vice-president; A. Altgelt, treasurer; F. Mallman, E. Tornquist, E. Piaggio and H.A. Bunge, members. Suplentes: F. Saguier, J. Jofre, L. Ker Jordan.

BIRTHS.

On the 30th December, at the Estancia Santa Ana, Carmen de Areco, the wife of Mr. Lawrence Wheeler, of twin sons.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co. Secure the Exclusive Right to the Trade-mark or Label "W. A. S."—The Imitation thereof is Felony.

It is learned from Washington that the United States Patent Office has granted, under date of October 9th inst, to the famous house of Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co., the exclusive right to a label having the words "W. A. S." as applied to schnapps. This label has been used on the top of every bottle of the "Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps" for nearly ten years past, but it is only now that the title has been registered. It is done for the better protection of the house and their customers, and the reporter who writes this article learns that Messrs Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co. intend to prosecute with the utmost severity of the law, all infringements upon their rights in this label. Their schnapps has been upon the market for forty years past, and it is now sold and used in every part of the World. There is no other article of the kind that is worthy of being compared with it, so great is its merit. Its purity is absolute and invariable, and this is the basis upon which its wonderful and world-wide popularity has been built up. In the hands of medical men it has worked wonders—and in point of fact it is one of the most valuable adjuncts to the modern "materia medica" at present known to science.
Owing to the enormous demand for this article, unscrupulous parties have been led to imitate, and in future, purchasers would do well to see that the letters "W. A. S." are on the bottle. To imitate this label is felony.

Advanced dentistry
Professor Horsey's
North American system of inserting teeth without plates
This noted specialist has been with us for the past four months, during which time he has performed hundreds of operations for the most prominent and leading citizens of this Republic.
By this process where only a few roots or stumps of old teeth remain the "bridge work" obviates the necessity of wearing plates of any discription.
It is permanent, cleanly, and natural in appearance; and the operation as compared with filling or extracting teeth is painless. It restores broken or badly decayed teeth and roots, to life long usefulness. All are invited to call and examine this incomparably beautiful work.
It is the greatest step in advanced dentistry and the best the dental profession has yet made. A descriptive pamphlet of this process may be had on application or sent by mail to any address.
